

A Thank You Note, And A Tease

Written by Michael Woods
Sunday, 13 May 2007 19:00

Thanks.

Thanks for taking the time to stop on our website when there are about 20 million sites you could be looking at.

Thanks for checking out our humble destination instead of performing that drudgery at your 9-to-5. Here's hoping the egghead spies in tech doesn't tally up your surfing hours, and report you to HR. I'm kidding...I'm sure tech has bigger fish to fry than your slight tendency to check out the latest boxing news and opinion on TSS, twice a day.

Thanks for taking the time to write in comments. Your comments, many of them thoughtfully prepared, amusing, and darned insightful, help make our site that much different. So keep on tossing in your two cents, or, as many of the readers do when entering the MMA vs. boxing debate, your full three cents.

Midweek, we're going to be announcing some new staffers who are coming aboard TSS, so please check in frequently, so we can fill you in.

And one again, thanks. We know there are a few boxing websites that you can choose to view, and a lot of good work being done. So we appreciate you reading us.