

BLOODIED, BUT UNBOWED: TSS Rises From Canvas, Ready To Rock

Written by Michael Woods

Monday, 23 November 2009 18:00

Greetings. I hope you missed us. We missed doing what we do.

For TSS regulars, you know, based on the onset of the shakes and your flu-like symptoms, that we were offline for a couple days.

But in honor of the upcoming holiday, we've curtailed this cold turkey time, and we're back.

The cause of the service interruption, and our "lost weekend," was that old standby, a server outage.

The tech wizards behind the scenes have been scrambling, and we're functional once again.

Please feel free to make up for lost time, and smother the comment section with your take on the Ward win, Pacquiao-Mayweather negotiations and other fistic matters. Check back here on a compulsive basis, because we'll be flurrying like Sugar Ray Leonard to make up ground.

Thanks for your patience,

EDITOR MIKE