

Ralph Gonzalez was one of the very first Internet boxing writers. His first assignment was covering Antonio Diaz vs. Omar Weis for fightnews.com in June 2000. He's since interviewed the best and brightest the world of boxing and mma has to offer.

Oscar De La Hoya, Juan Manuel Marquez, Israel Vazquez, Julio Cesar Chavez, Erik Morales, Marco Antonio Barrera, Fernando Vargas, Chuck Liddell and Matt Hughes are just some of the names he's interviewed and written about. His interview with former U.S. Olympian, Javier Molina, was presented and forever preserved as part of the U.S. House of Representatives Congressional Record for July 21, 2008.

He's made several videos profiling up and coming fighters as well as veterans. Some of his videos have been featured on The Sweet Science, Yahoo Sports and RingTV.com.

He's a graduate of U.S.C. with a degree in English. He attended graduate school at Loyola Marymount University where he majored in Communications.

He can be followed on twitter: www.twitter.com/fightmedia
