U.S. Olympian Demetrius Andrade headlines

Feb. 10 ESPN FNF show vs. Derek Ennis

NABO Junior Middleweight Title Fight at Mohegan Sun

BRONX, NY (January 5, 2012) — The StarBox Boxing and Entertainment Show announced that Demetrius Andrade will face Derek Ennis in a 10-round

"We're excited to be going back to beautiful Mohegan Sun for another ESPN Friday Night Fights show with a card featuring two of the best fighters in the world."

"We love fight night at Mohegan Sun Arena and it's a perfect fit when there is an exciting card like this one featuring two of the best fighters in the world."

One of the most gifted all-around boxers, Andrade (15-0, 10 KO's) has been favorably compared to a young Mike Tyson.

The 23-year-old Andrade, the only short drive television in his division, has stopped a 2007 World title challenger in his first professional fight.

Andrade is rapidly climbing the ratings ladder, ranked in the top 15 of all four major governing bodies: NABO, IBF, WBA and WBC.

The Cape Verdean descent star-in-the-making faces his stiffest test to date as a professional in Ennis (20-0, 10 KO's) on Feb. 10 at Mohegan Sun Arena.
