BROOKLYN, NY (July 26, 2013)--Dmitry Salita's Star of David Promotions, New York City's newest boxing series, returns to the Fight Factory Arena on Thursday night, August 22

nd
for an exciting night of professional boxing.

The "Bragging Rights" show is stacked with local talent and cross town rivalries between New York's toughest contenders.

"We want to bring an old school feel to our shows," said Salita.

"This is a grassroots series the way boxing used to be back in the day where fighters from all the different boroughs of New York City would fight each other. Those types of neighborhood rivalries always bring an extra excitement to the show and we have a card that is just that."

Scheduled to appear in the main event will be Rajiv Bhattacharya in an eight round bout that will be for the New York State Welterweight title.

Rajiv is the latest product of Brooklyn's Starett City Boxing Gym.

Bhattacharya of the United Kingdom and now residing in Stamford, Connecticut has a perfect record of 9-0 with six knockouts.

In a six round cruiserweight bout, Brooklyn cruiser Miron Kadirov (3-2, 2 KO's) will fight Armin Markonovic (6-2, 3 KO's) of Queens, NY. Both are looking to climb up contender status and put on an impressive performance for New York City fans.

Scheduled to appear will be Dinmukhamed Niyazov (3-0, 2 KO's) of Staten Island will see action in a six round junior welter fight.
