Face Off With Max Kellerman: Alvarado/Provodnikov

Debuts Saturday, Oct. 5 on HBO®

With An Advance Premiere Friday, Oct. 4 on HBO GO®

Sept. 19, 2013 - Fight fans eager for a unique inside look at the highly anticipated Oct. 19th HBO World Championship Boxing® showdown between junior welterweights Mike Alvarado and Ruslan Provodnikov should mark their calendars to catch an all-new edition of "Face Off," starring the two prizefighters. "Face Off With Max Kellerman: Alvarado/Provodnikov" debuts Saturday, Oct. 5 at 1:00 a.m. (ET/PT) on HBO immediately following an action-filled evening of boxing programming on the network highlighted by a World Championship Boxing card live from Orlando, FL.

Boxing fans excited to watch this all-new "Face Off" program can see it first on HBO GO® starting at 6:00 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 4.

Moderated by Max Kellerman, "Face Off" is an insightful and often gripping interview session in which the two fighters square off and answer Kellerman's questions. The fighters also get the chance to address each other and their fans in this engaging format.

The Alvarado/Provodnikov extended version of "Face Off" is set to air multiple times on HBO and HBO2 (schedule below). "Face Off" will also be available on the HBO On Demand® service, HBO GO

Hop says:

Thanks for this. Forget if I mentioned I'm going to the fight (already have ticket). Last year one of my students was a girl (here in CO) whose family is lifelong friends with Mike's. I'm excited, though I hope they don't need an ambulance with bunk beds for this one!

Radam G says:

Now Provod has been talking that foolish jive that he is ready to die in the ring. The late, great General "Blood and Guts" would cuss out weak-talking warriors like Provod. He'd tell him to "kill da otha' bastard." Thinking about dying in a fight has brainwashed you to accepting losing. And that loss is so bad, that you rather be dead. Holla!
