"I've shown for 20-plus years, with a legacy that will be talked about way after I'm gone, that I am different." – Bernard Hopkins

His accomplishments are too long to list. Twenty successful middleweight title defenses. Longest reign of a middleweight world champ. Oldest world champion in boxing history. But age and gold belts aren't what define Bernard Hopkins as a fighter. Check out the video below to hear what makes "The Alien" tick. And don't miss Hopkins as he sets another record - this time as the oldest fighter in history to make an initial title defense – when he puts his IBF Light Heavyweight Title on the line against Karo Murat, Saturday, Oct. 26, LIVE on SHOWTIME®.
