Boxer Yuriorkis Gamboa's name popped up in a story running in the Miami New Times which focused on Anthony Bosch, the former head of a anti-aging clinic called Biogenesis, which closed last month.

The story says that the Times came to possess Biogenesis records, including a spreadsheet which lists the names of standout professional athletes, like the NY Yankees' Alex Rodriguez, SF Giants OF Melky Cabrera and Gamboa. The clinic peddled HGH, testosterone and anabolic steroids, apparently, and the writer Tim Elfrink spoke to six customers and two ex employees to get a sense of what was occurring at Biogenesis. The names of Bosch and his father, Dr. Pedro Bosch, popped up in the news in 2009, when baseballer Manny Ramirez was suspended for PED usage. The DEA was then looking at the Bosch's for providing Ramirez with HCG, a hormone used in some cases to restore or maintain testicular size, which can be affected by PED use. They were not charged with a crime at that time.

The Times story refers to Biogenesis as an "East Coast version of BALCO," the chemistry lab/PED warehouse-shop which was run by the notorious Victor Conte, who is today involved with strength, conditioning and supplement advice to high level pro boxers, including Nonito Donaire.

In notebooks believed to be written by Bosch, it is indicated that Gamboa was given HGH, testosterone cream and substance called IGF-1, which is used to aid in building muscle mass and strength. HGH and IGF are banned by the World Anti-Doping Agency and use of testosterone would need to be signed off on by an athletic commission, and prescribed by a physician.

An April 2012 fight between Gamboa (22-0, 16 KOs) and Brandon Rios, which was cancelled when Gamboa had a falling out with then promoter Top Rank, is referenced in the Times article. Bosch seemingly wrote that "clean-up" would need to begin on Dec. 1--presumably Dec. 1, 2011--for Gamboa. "Clean up" is not defined, but the implication is clear.

The Times tried to reach Gamboa through his trainer, but the fighter didn't respond.

Gamboa, after parting with Top Rank, is now promoted by rapper 50 Cents' SMS Promotions. Gamboa is the top fighter signed to 50, who also promotes Billy Dib and Celestino Caballero. The 31 year old Cuban defector last fought on Dec. 8, and scored a UD12 win over Michael Farenas. It has been rumored that a deal for his next fight could be near. Apparently, Tim Bradley shot down a fight with Gamboa. The Cuban has expressed interest in fighting Adrien Broner.

Another Florida PED peddling situation snared a boxer, back in 2007. Reports linked heavyweight Jameel McCline to Signature Pharmacy in Orlando. An AP story from 2007 said McCline received steroids, HGH and testosterone from Infinity Longevity, a Signature subsidiary. Baseball players were outed when a Palm Beach "Rejuvenation Center" were busted, also in 2007, so it seems like there is something of a cluster of cases of this ilk in Florida. A common theme in athletes named in the Bosch situation is they have ties to the Miami area. Gamboa lives in Miami.

Radam G says:

Naku! OMFG! Why is anybody SURPRISED? Like I've said 90 percent of the top guns are using roids and PEDs to get eye-candy looks for their bodies for the freaks and geeks. That syet is in. The old-school ectomorph body is too thin. And the corruped boxing commissions are turning their craniums the other way. They are just concern about big PAY. And they don't actually give a hard fart how the combatants play. Just don't get caught, and you will be fine. In this seedy business of legal mayhem, the light bulb on being honest about roids and PEDs won't ever shine.

The game is also all about the myths. The myths exist nowadays that that jive helps performance. But it only woos and "Oh SYET" freaky judges who are booty blinded by those swollen muscles that don't help you adroitly fight. But they will get you a gift win, because that syet is definitely IN!

Look how many times that Gamboa has been put on his arse. And look how many times that big, old Jameel McCline has been knocked da double fudge OUT! And that long-chinned freak that heavyweight king Doc Wladimir whupped up on in his last bout is on suspension for being full of dat syet. See that stuff doesn't mean jack. It is boxing skills that are all that and a bag of chips and da straight-up Mack. Holla!

deepwater says:

steroids dont help in boxing. its more of a disadvantage then advantage. arod should come out of the closet like cruz did. where is 50 cent the drug pusher on this one?

deepwater says:

50 cent just gave an interview on performing gamboa into the ring. 50 sent said. I, me,mine over 1000 times. he mentioned gamboa and dib twice. 50 cent is not about the boxers. 50 cent is about 50 cent getting his grubby hands into the sport so he can slide down a rope.

BoxeoMichoacan says:

When do you guys think Pacquiao will be indicted from his epo and hgh use? I guess it's easier to hide things in the Philippines but in due time it will come out

ali says:

@Deepwater 50 don't give a fu@k and a half about his fighters just like he didn't care about the artist he have sign to the unit.

ali says:

BoxeoMichoacan somebody in his circle will spill the beans one day im sure of that.

Carmine Cas says:

A lot of PED's do not help in boxing but some do. EPO being one them, a.l.a. Mosley in the second de la hoyra fight. Blood doping, increasing the delivery of oxygen to one's muscles. Improving stamina, thus maintaining speed, power, throughout the fight. I don't think Pacquiao used steroids, if he had the confidence to sue Golden Girls and Floyd he most likely wasn't doping. Pacquiao looked so good at welterweight not because he was cheating, but because he was fighting washed up dehydrated opponents who were too shot utilize good ring movement, just move straight forward allowing him to attack in angles. Bigger muscles do not equal better boxing, if anything they slow you down. Marquez looked slower than pacquiao in his previous fights

Radam G says:

Ditto, CC! You hit it straight on. Big muscle ain't jack in boxing. It is technique, know how and mean savviness that win. Haters reaching for Da Manny being on roids and PEDs, are feathers blowing in the wind. That muscle jive is candy for the above that I named.

In Fight V, that will probably take place in Mexico or the Middle East, PEDs Hulkquez will morph back into Juan Manuel Marquez, because he won't need to impress an audience and judges with eye candy and mythical bullsyetology with size and bulk.

And BTW, JMM will get fudged up badly in Fight V. But he will be phatly paid. Holla!

Radam G says:

BTW, CC, there are the accepted roids and PEDs of L-Arginine and Maca that do well in delivering oxygen to the muscles. Spinach, walnuts and beets do the same. Only the dumb@$ses will use that illegal syet.

Old school trainers know that 80 percent of the power and speed come from the diet. Don't let the internet fakers, busters and phoneys blind you to da in da knows. A fighter with an improper

@ali:

I'm thinking Ariza, but they did fix the fights for Pacquiao by dehydrating opponents and having him fight for belts that were against people who did not hold the belt i.e. Margarito. It's ok, we know the truth

dino da vinci says:

And Radam, this is why you remain the mainstay here in the Universe. Ditto CC is correct, you beat me to it. Your Internet faker rant is spot on, and your loyalty to your countryman, even after he was electrocuted in IV is unwavering. Of course, it should also be noted, that in an alternate reality your guy may not have won yet, although at the time of the stoppage I had him no more than nine minutes from the finish line.

BoxeoMichoacan says:

Pacquiao won't win in D.F. and the worst decision he could make, aside from letting Bob Arum and Michael Koncz handle his finances is to fight in Mexico City. He will not rest a minute there. My countrymen are tired of someone who shot epo and hgh in their nalgas accompanied by a promoter who makes Don King look like a trustworthy guy

BoxeoMichoacan says:

@dino

"Electrocuted" I haven't heard that yet as an adjective to describe the bomb that went off on plankman's beak lol

Radam G says:

In Fight Five, PEDs Hulkquez will not show up. So expect for JM Marquez to be adroitly tortured. His using that jive was a one in a lifetime thing. Because of that _____, he is suffering from more internal damage than Tim Bradley.

Severe damaged goods are JMM and TB. The year 2013 is going to reveal 'em like a crushed-up jelly bean. You cannot forever hide not being clean. To the body, that jive is so mean. Holla!

Hgh helped Pacquiao recover faster and train harder with less time. For example, in between rounds, Pacquiao probably would recover within 20 seconds or so rather than the whole minute due to hgh

Radam G says:

STFU, SCLA Ali! Don't start your syet with that bytch-@ss stalker. You don't know syet about boxing. And you will believe any tales of the hood bullsyetology. People like you are always looking for the next cheap cheat syet that doesn't work. It is skills that pay the bills, not some bullsyet-arse chemical that blow up your muscles. That syet will give you an early trip to Boot Hill.

None-talented people and their down-low stalking sds with the education of a ghettoweed _____! Roids and PEDs in the @ss has and won't ever gift a boxer. Those who have straw for brains even believe in acid rain.

I'm reminded of this sorry-@ss dude from South Central Los Angeles who was a boxer on dat syet and coke. Everytime it would rain, he wouldn't leave his flophouse appartment because he thought that acid was in the rain, and it was "a-white-man conspiracy to acid-fy [sic] the black skin off people in da hood." And this roids-and-PEDs using bytch was lighter than Mitt Romney. Matter of a fact, he was a cousin of the late FloJo Griffen. And because he had no talent and/or skills to pay the bills he didn't win syet.

At 29 years old, he died. He is taking his dirt nap in that Boot Hill near you. Oh! It's so misty blue! Holla!

Wow Radam would you look at that, we actually agree on something....but I disagree with the latter. Pacquiao is not going destroy Marquez, lets Marquez did even a cycle it's prob not going to have long lasting effects on him. He loses some muscle he gains some speed back, and still knocks out pacquiao. The question is pacquiao, how is after that knockout? He was out cold, even Rick Fatton was blinking his eyes. I think it would be smart of Pacquiao to fight Bradley first, see how he feels in the ring against someone with pillows for hands, revenge that loss and then fight the Great Juan Manuel Marquez. Bob Arum is so eager to feed him back to the lion that maimed him. Test the water before you go swimming again. Fighters aren't always the same after knockouts like that, I'm sorry to say

If u want to meet at a boxing gym in L.A and put on the gloves im,all for it I will make a few calls just give me a day. I will make sure the cameras are rolling so u can't lie about me whooping your a$$$. If u ain't willingscrap quit talking tough on the internet cuz it makes u look like a straight buster. Deuces[/QUOTE]

Radam G says:

AGREED! Because SCLA Ali is talking outta his head. His chances of surviving even 13 seconds are ZERO and NO WAY! And they are both laughing at the ex-footballer. Hehehe! I'm laughing too. Holla!
