

If Maurice Harris Beats Tony Thompson, Eddie Chambers Is Next

Written by The Sweet Science
Tuesday, 24 May 2011 16:13

NEW YORK (May 24, 2011) – The long, strange trip Maurice “Sugar Moe” Harris has taken during his often tumultuous 18-year pro career is close to reaching its ultimate zenith as the USBA heavyweight champion makes final preparations for this week’s rematch against former world title challenger

Tony

“The Tiger”

Thompson

,” live on ESPN

Friday Night Fights

from Reno Events Center in Nevada.

The IBF No. 6 Harris (24-14-2, 10 KOs) versus No. 7 Thompson (35-2, 23 KOs) battle is a scheduled 12-round, International Boxing Federation (“IBF”) Box-Off with the winner moving up to No. 2 in the IBF ratings, and earning an IBF Title Eliminator match against the other IBF Box-Off winner, top rated “Fast” Eddie Chambers (36-2, 18 KOs), who defeated Derric Rossey this past February by way of a 12-round unanimous decision. The winner of the fight between Chambers and Harris/Thompson will determine the IBF mandatory challenger for world champion Wladimir Klitschko (or David Haye if he wins their July 2nd unification fight).

“I try not to think too far ahead and to stay focused on the task at hand,” Harris spoke about not letting possible fights in the future being a distraction from his mission. “I hear that I’m only two fights away, but I’m not focused on fighting Eddie Chambers because I’m fighting Tony Thompson. I take it one fight at a time. If I don’t focus on Tony Thompson there won’t be an Eddie Chambers fight for me.

“I’ve always had it inside of me. I’ve worked too hard to get here and I’m not turning back now. I have done everything possible to get ready for this fight. Usually, when I do that, good things happen. This is my job. I don’t have a social life. Once in a while I may go to the movies with my wife or to Chuck E. Cheese with my kids, but boxing is all I really do. I’m going with my promoter’s logo: Boxing 360 and that’s all I do.”

A decade ago, Harris defeated Thompson by decision in the final of the “Thunderbox Heavyweight Tournament. “Things change,” Maurice commented. “I didn’t know Thompson then and I don’t know him now. I’m not going back nine years to that fight. This fight is now and that’s what counts. I know I’m a better fighter because with age comes wisdom. He’s gotten experience and fought in some big fights. I’ve been on my journey and he’s been on his.

If Maurice Harris Beats Tony Thompson, Eddie Chambers Is Next

Written by The Sweet Science
Tuesday, 24 May 2011 16:13

I'm ready. It's going to be an interesting night."

The 35-year-old Harris has beaten some of the best heavyweights, including former world champion Sergei Liakhovich and world title challenger Jeremy Williams, but he's also lost to journeymen and no-name opponents. The reborn-Harris, however, has won four fights in a row since signing a promotional contract with Boxing 360.

"In the past I was just going along for the ride," Harris added. "I wasn't focused like I am now. I never thought it would come to this (two fights away from a world title shot). It all came unexpectedly but I always knew that I could beat the major players. Hey, I won't be satisfied with a win Friday night because it isn't my ultimate goal."

Other members of Boxing 360's stable include WBC #3 super bantamweight Leon "Hurry Up" Moore, former IBF super middleweight champion Alejandro "Naco" Berrio, NY State champions, middleweight Lennox "2 Sharpe" Allen and welterweight Danny Sostre, KO king Tyrone Brunson, Nick "Hands of Gold" Casal, Amanda "The Real Deal" Serrano, middleweight prospect DonYil Livingston, Joshua "The Juice" Harris, Emad Ali, Mike Mollo, "King" David Estrada and Angel "Toro" Hernandez.

Go to www.Boxing360.com for more information about Harris, Boxing 360 or any of its other fighters.

Comment on this article

brownsugar says:

Surely boxing is a compassionless sport as far as the heavyweights are concerned. For Chambers and Thompson all roads lead to Germany if they want a lucrative payday. But at what price?... At the urging of Emanuel Stewart the better Kbrother unloaded a devastating left hook against the side of the diminutive Chambers face that he will not soon forget. Whatever respect Wlad had in the first fight will most assuredly be replaced with contempt the second time around. And what of Tony the Tiger? Who looked like all he needed was a teddy bear the way he lay down in the center of ring and used his arm as a pillow while he proceeded to take a brief nap after Wlad's final assault..... Wlad will make 8figures....either of the Americans will make 7 figures, the Germans will applaud gleefully in a packed stadium, politely oowing and aahing in amazement. While most Americans will be watching something less predictable like

If Maurice Harris Beats Tony Thompson, Eddie Chambers Is Next

Written by The Sweet Science
Tuesday, 24 May 2011 16:13

NASCAR or Baseball....or maybe just tending the barby. All I'm saying is "thanks for the news.... but I'm hardly excited about it. The Kbrothers will continue to rule the heavies the way Stalin ruled Russia... with a heavy fist...at least for a little while. (groan).

the Roast says:

@B-Sug, I think you mean IRON fist. What the hell is that avatar? Whatever it is I want to eat it!

brownsugar says:

@TheRoast... that's my signature braized salmon stirfry with radishes poblano peppers, tomatoes and hint of dill weed..cooked in extra virgin olive-oil..heart healthy and delicious... any way IRON FIST would have sounded much betterhey..you should become a journalist.

brownsugar says:

@TheRoast.... your avatar looks just as appetizing..lol.

the Roast says:

I would definitely love to eat that....your avatar that is....