

Liakhovich Injury Update

Written by The Sweet Science
Monday, 29 August 2011 10:00

MASSIVE PERFORMANCE DELIVERS HEAVYWEIGHT EXCITEMENT

After turning in a thrilling, gutsy and bloody performance last night vs. Robert Helenius, in Erfurt, Germany,

Gasping for breath from early in the third round when the first fracture occurred, until the fight was stopped.

"Sergei was unable to breathe through his nose from the moment the first break occurred in the third round.

"Sergei proved last night that he is one of the toughest fighters in the heavyweight division." Cardinale

Doctors, last night, advised "The White Wolf" to remain at the hospital and have immediate surgery under

Liakhovich Injury Update

Written by The Sweet Science
Monday, 29 August 2011 10:00

Liakhovich, whose trip back to the US has been postponed due to travel restrictions caused by Hurricane

"Those who say that there are no exciting fighters in the heavyweight division haven't been paying attention

The Belarusian, who has been inactive for 17 months due to a contractual dispute, a training injury and

"A fighter needs to stay active to be sharp," Duva continued. "While fighting through the pain and baref

Comment on this article