

Matthew Macklin Wants Sergio Martinez

Written by The Sweet Science
Monday, 14 November 2011 15:07

New York, NY - (11/14/2011) Don't see or hear of many top fighters calling out the name of Middleweight

That being said it might come as a surprise to hear a fighter actually eager to enter the ring against Mart

Matthew Macklin Wants Sergio Martinez

Written by The Sweet Science
Monday, 14 November 2011 15:07

Looking to further his career and secure another major fight in the middleweight division, Macklin signed

"I'm enjoying life in New York. I felt it was important to move here so that I can build a fan base if I am go

Macklin realizes that Martinez is vying for a shot at the only two fighters ahead of him on the pound-for-p

"I've proved throughout my career that the bigger the challenge and the bigger the stage the better I per

While Macklin is by no means underestimating Martinez, he is extremely confident in his chances agains

"I have a lot of respect for Martinez. What he's done after taking up boxing so late is remarkable, but he

Comment on this article

Don Quixote says:

It's good that Macklin has decided and wants to reside in the US and make progress in his career. How about allowing "El Perro" Angulo to come to fight in the US?

Mickylove says:

Macklin is a brave fighter with undoubted talent and skills, but his style is all wrong for Martinez and i see him getting stopped around the 6th.