A REALLY REALLY slow day for copy, NO DOUBT! All this alphabet sanctioning organizations jive give me a headache. WTF! We reside in one world and need only one champion per weight division.

OOPS! I musta fo'got! Some people reside in an imaginary world, so I guess you would need some imaginary chumps -- I mean champs -- for 'em! Or is it that the ASOs need to be collecting that sanctioning-fee moola? Probably a combination of both. Holla!

@Radam. A heartfelt thank you from all of us for your continued patronage. I personally read every word of your posts. Of course, not before I put them into Google's translator. Also, I'll have to check, but I believe you've achieved tenure.

Radam, I have a plan to revolutionize the sport of boxing (I've been walking around with it for 40 years, but besides you and me, how many people do you think really care?) Actually, beginning in January and going every other month, TSS will sponsor a $500 cash prize to the winner of our contest entitled "Topics For Our Time". Only established, regular posters will be allowed to vote. January's first topic is "Why We Accept Our Boxing Broken".

Yes, you might have to read it several times, but eventually it makes sense. And Radam, in the unlikely event of a tie, since I'm giving myself the tie-breaking vote, if you are one of the two, YOU WIN! Hey, why should the others complain? The ABC's do much worse and the fan base shrugs and moves on.

Radam G says:

Wow! Easy answer to "Why [do] We Accept Our Boxing Broken?" We accept what is natural without trying to changing it. An in the words of the great, late music man, Tiny Tim. "Boksing is like a banana -- CROOKED!"

And we, the loyal followers and/or money and time supporters of it, are some dang apes for it. So we are always go apesh*t about any and every thing! Talkin' about "Planet of the Apes," just hang out with some boksing loyaltees, and you will be transformed into the illusion of that Big-Screen planet.

Whenever I hear Uncle Roger May, I wanna swing through a tree, and knock the heebejeebeez outta a human "Black Mamba." Hehehehehe! I musta' been taking too much Pinoy A-side meth. I don't even understand Roger's English anymore. Didn't the humans on the Planet of the Apes couldn't speak functionally? Holla!
