

Women make their Ultimate Fighting Championship debut Saturday when bantamweight

Boxing's Mia St. John & Gennady Golovkin Attending Rousey's Historic UFC Fight

Written by David A. Avila

Friday, 22 February 2013 09:41

champion Ronda Rousey defends against Liz Carmouche in UFC 157.

It's too bad that boxing slept on women's prizefighting. Not UFC, they saw that Rousey can fight and immediately noticed that she attracted tons of fans.

You got to hand it to UFC's Dana White. He's sharp.

Despite a lack of parity in women's MMA, Rousey's (6-0) popularity is sure to inspire young women when she fights Carmouche (7-2) at the Honda Center in Anaheim. It will be televised on pay-per-view television.

Several boxing champions appreciate that Rousey is going to headline the UFC event, including Mia St. John and Gennady Golovkin, who both announced they are attending the debut of Rousey on UFC.

Gennady, the WBA middleweight world champion, met Rousey in Big Bear Lake where she trained in their facility. He said in a press release that he would attend.

St. John, one of the most popular female boxers in the last 15 years, will be attending with publicist Claudia Ollis, who is one of the top proponents of female prizefighting. Both want to witness the historic event. St. John had one MMA fight and won but returned to boxing. She wants to support Rousey and women prizefighting in general.

Ollis has been working with Jeff Wald, famed for producing the Contender reality television show. Both are working together on a new project.

Other fight chatter

Boxing's Mia St. John & Gennady Golovkin Attending Rousey's Historic UFC Fight

Written by David A. Avila

Friday, 22 February 2013 09:41

Basilio Nieves (15-1, 3 Kos) meets Juanito Rubillar (48-19-7, 23 Kos) in the main event on Thursday Feb. 21, at the Four Points Sheraton in San Diego. The flyweight event is set for six rounds. The co-main event features Eduardo Rivera (9-0-1, 3 Kos) facing Aldolfo Landeros (22-29-2, 10 Kos) in a lightweight clash.

Gianluca Branco (46-3-1, 23 Kos) meets Poland's Lukasz Maciec (17-1-1, 3 Kos) for the EBU welterweight regional title in Lazio, Italy. Their title bout will take place on Friday Feb. 22. Branco, 42, is making his first defense of the belt.

Undefeated Art Hovhannisyan (15-0-2, 8 Kos) faces Alejandro Perez (16-3-1, 11 Kos) in the main event at Morongo Casino on Friday Feb. 22. The junior welterweight main event is set for 10 rounds and is promoted by Gary Shaw Productions. Showtime will televise.

Undefeated Roman Morales (14-0, 7 Kos) and undefeated Juan "Pollo" Hernandez (10-0-3, 2 Kos) face each other on Friday Feb. 22, in Washington D.C. Both are California-based junior featherweight prizefighters but will be fighting in the East Coast. ESPN will televise.

Former flyweight world champion Giovanni Segura (28-2-1, 24 Kos) steps back in the ring after a 14-month layoff following a devastating knockout loss to current champion Brian Viloria. Mexico's Segura will fight Omar Salado (23-5-2, 14 Kos) on Saturday Feb. 23, in Hermosillo, Mexico.

Former featherweight world champion Jhonny Gonzalez (52-8, 45 Kos) faces Eusebio Osejo (21-12-2, 7 Kos) on Saturday Feb. 23, in Ixtapa, Mexico. It's Gonzalez's first fight since losing the title by technical decision to Daniel Ponce De Leon. On the same card Irma Sanchez (25-5-1, 7 Kos) fights Jessica Chavez (16-3-2) in a junior flyweight title bout.

United Kingdom's David Price (15-0, 13 Kos) fights American Tony Thompson (36-3, 24 Kos) in a heavyweight clash set for 12 rounds. The battle takes place in Liverpool on Saturday Feb. 23. It will only be televised in Europe.

IBF junior middleweight titleholder Cornelius Bundrage (32-4, 19 Kos) defends the title against

Boxing's Mia St. John & Gennady Golovkin Attending Rousey's Historic UFC Fight

Written by David A. Avila

Friday, 22 February 2013 09:41

Ishe Smith (24-5, 11 Kos) on Saturday Feb. 23. The match will be held in Detroit, Michigan. Golden Boy Promotions is presenting the fight card that also has J'Leon Love (14-0, 8 Kos) fighting Derrick Findley (20-8, 13 Kos) in a middleweight scrap.

Undefeated heavyweights clash when Malik Scott (35-0, 12 Kos) fights Vyacheslav Glazkov (14-0, 10 Kos) on Saturday Feb. 23 in Huntington, New York. Also, Chris Algieri (15-0, 7 Kos) faces Jose Alejo (10-1, 6 Kos) in a welterweight scrap.

Amanda Serrano (17-1-1, 12 Kos) knocked out Dominican Republic's Wanda Ozuna (8-5) in one round to win the vacant WIBA female featherweight world title on Saturday Feb. 16. The match was held in Dominican Republic. Serrano fights out of New York.

Jonathan "Momo" Romero (23-0, 12 Kos) defeated Mexico's Alejandro Lopez (24-3) by split decision after 12 rounds this past Saturday. The title fight took place in Tijuana, Mexico. Colombia's Romero is promoted by Thompson Boxing Promotions and is their third world champion.

Riverside's Saul Rodriguez (9-0-1, 6 Kos) knocked out Luis Viedas (7-8-1) at 2:06 of the second round of a featherweight bout in Mexico on Saturday. Rodriguez, 19, is a former Riverside Poly High graduate who is taught by world class trainer Eduardo Garcia.

Brunet Zamora (24-1-2, 10 Kos) defeated Poland's Krzysztof Szot (17-5-1) by majority decision to win the vacant EBU lightweight title on Friday Feb. 15. The match was held in Trieste, Italy. Zamora is a Cuban expatriate now living in Italy.

Knockout legend Yory Boy Campas (101-17-1, 79 Kos) defeated Gabriel Martinez (27-6-1) by split decision on Friday Feb. 15, in Sonora, Mexico. Campas, 41, is a former welterweight and junior middleweight world champion.

Delvin Rodriguez (27-6-3, 15 Kos) handed George "Comanche Boy" Tahdooahnippah (31-1-1, 23 Kos) his first pro loss on Friday Feb. 15. Their fight took place in Atlantic City. Rodriguez stopped the challenger in round six of their junior middleweight contest.

Comment on this article

the Roast says:

Congrats to triple R Ronda Rowdy Rousey for doing her thing and getting that arm bar. You gotta love a hot girl that can kick . Next fight give Miesha Tate a rematch.

Radam G says:

Maybe! The Roast! I told my hot evil-twin wife that I was like you -- single in cyberspace. Later that ETW wouldn't give me any action, so I felt to sleep. And woke up with a swollen eye. Now I know that she punch my arse, because when I woke she was staring all up in my mug laughing. And hollering: "Tell the Roast to send you a steak," she said.

"And don't try to get some of coochie by being moochie."

I holla at her that she loves my BIG -- okay it's not that big -- "Ding-a-ling, so I'll just get on my pride of putting on (her) finger some more BLING-BLING!"

I will send the bill to one of those nuns to give you, the Roast. Hehehe! Holla!