Heavyweight contender Dereck Chisora told the UK newspaper "The Sun" that he's set to face rising prospect Deontay Wilder June 15 at Wembley Arena. But Wilder has a pending legal situation hanging over his head, as he was arrested on Saturday morning, on domestic violence charges, in Las Vegas.

Reports say Wilder (seen in above Hogan photo knocking out Audley Harrison in his last fight, April 27), a 27-year-old from Alabama who won bronze for the US at the 2008 Olympics, was detained after cops came to a hotel and saw a "bruised woman" who indicated to them that she had been struck by the boxer.

I checked in with Wilder's trainer, Jay Deas, to get more details. He said that reports of a done deal on a Wilder-Chisora fighter are premature. "My understanding is that (Chisora promoter) Frank Warren announced the fight, but we haven't signed a contract," Deas said. "I don't want to accept a fight, sign a deal and then in three weeks find out that travel is not possible, or there are other legal issues...I don't know why they made the announcement. I do like the fight, and if it doesn't happen June 15, we'd like to do it as soon as we could."

Deas referred me to attorney Paul Patterson, out of Tuscaloosa, who is handling Wilder's case, for more info. Patterson said that the dispute between Wilder and the woman came about because Deontay was "under the false impression that she was stealing from him."

The lawyer said the two involved in the disagreement have made amends. "He has talked to her, apologized, and she has accepted," he told me. The lawyer said the woman was an "acquaintance" who was part of a crew who traveled to Las Vegas from Alabama to watch the Mayweather-Guerrero fight on Saturday, May 4.

Patterson said that the woman could not be characterized as a paramour of Wilder, who is married, he said. "I am puzzled why Nevada charged Deontay under a domestic heading," he said. An arraignment will take place in a few weeks, he stated, and Wilder will meet with a Nevada criminal attorney to discuss his options, and also confer with promoter Golden Boy. Patterson said the subject of traveling out of the country for a fight will be discussed. "We request the blessing of a judge to do so," said Patterson, who said he wasn't sure on the UK stance on allowing travel into the UK for non-citizens facing legal issues, especially of a physical nature.

The attorney told me he has known Wilder for about seven years and invited him to work at his law office when the boxer was healing up from a broken hand in 2009. "This is totally out of character for Deontay," he said. "He did an excellent job and the staff felt comfortable around him, especially the ladies there. He looks at this as a lesson learned. He acted in haste, the victim has accepted an apology and we hope he can move on, and get a shot at the heavyweight world championship."

marriage have to do with his dumb@$$ behavior.

You don't whup a working woman's arse because you are under the false impression that she stole your syet. If she would've stole it, he would not have known. The hos in Sin City are slick and quick and know how to handle a d.

For Wilder, I feel no pity. He just did not want to pay the full prize for da kitty. C'mon, PEOPLE! Yall know what time it is. Holla!

deepwater says:

lawyer speak= golden boy(some third party that cant be traced to gbp) reached out to victim with a bribe of around $200,000 to keep their rotten investment going.

ali says:

Say what u want about Wilder but he has improved and is fighting better guys. The question is can u get him before he gets u or can,u make it into the 2nd half of of a fight with him. If so let's see if he sinks or swims im starting to think hewillswim.

ali says:

I will tell u what if he hits any body clean with that right hand they are going to sleep.

Radam G says:

Wilder and GBP better grease that working girl's palms phatly or his @$$ will be on long-@ss lockdown in a Sin City slammer. Nobody will ever know how he could be if he doesn't come out of the luv of whuppin' working girls' @sses. Hos just want to be respected and paid.

If you don't like to pay, don't lay [sic]! If you don't wanna give up da bling-BLING! Don't use yo' ding-a-ling.

Spittin' from da grapevine says the big, long Wilder had a tiny, short Johnson and was quick on the draw. Da ho laughed at him. He wouldn't pay her and went upside her noggin, messed up her weave, so she call Johnny Law. Wilder bytched up and became a chump of straw. And as far as for the sweet science is concerned, he is strill raw. Holla!

Bernie Campbell says:

I dont believe this fecal material! This is a freakin publicity stunt by the powes that be! Wilder is nothing but an Alabama yokel who wants to make some coin! He may be a "creation" and more so a stiff! But to fabricate and materialize this is ridiculous! Fu ch Chisora, hes marketable and hes looking to get his face in the papers! This fight will definitely not go off!

Nice try you illumanati idiots!

Radam G says:

Wow! B-Camp! That country giant from Alabama got honky and paranoid. Nothing is fabricated or trumped up about the "Friscoe." C'mon' man! The small d -Bama Giant was looking for some booty action in Sin City. So for him, don't have any pity. Holla!

amayseng says:

Hahahahahah Radam

I'd say that's low but this woman beater deserves it.

Bernie Campbell says:

This sh.. about Wilder is just that! Mafia gets him where they want him! "Big fights"! Now its time to call the shots, fight this guy, hold back, say this, pay back! Maybe it didn't chime, maybe they hit this country boy where it hurts! This unholy sh... keeps getting repeated and repeated, You see why I don't take interest! Yall is shootin blanks! Lotta money was pumped into Wilder, including PROMOTION! I say he was set up, and it friggun backfired! You ask this Yokel to go get a bucket of air and he brings back two! Complete Bullsh... You clowns on this blog gotta stop seeing things in Black and White!
