

GENNADY GOLOVKIN BREAKS CAMP, HEADS TO NEW YORK CITY FOR WORLD TITLE DEFENSE THIS SATURDAY NIGHT

Big Bear, CA (October 29, 2013) After weeks of intense training in Big Bear, California, boxing's fastest rising superstar Gennady "GGG" Golovkin is headed to New York City to defend his WBA and IBO Middleweight World Titles this Saturday night against Brooklyn's Curtis Stevens at Madison Square Garden, "The Mecca of Boxing" and LIVE on HBO® (10:00 p.m. ET/PT.)

With two massive fight billboards in the New York City area and a full week of media activities ahead, the Golovkin/Stevens clash has become a must-see attraction in the "city that never sleeps".

"I'm excited to fly to New York City for this fight with Curtis Stevens. Fighting at Madison Square Garden is always very special to me," said Golovkin. "The training camp was hard, but I'm in great condition and ready to fight."

"Coming back to Madison Square Garden and New York City with one of the premier fighters in the world is an experience like no other," said Tom Loeffler of K2 Promotions. "With two of the biggest punches in the middleweight division, fans can expect a lot of fireworks on Saturday night."

Head trainer Abel Sanchez added, "We're ready to showcase the best middleweight in the world this Saturday night. Gennady will deliver another terrific performance."

With the highest knockout percentage (89%) in the history of the middleweight division, Golovkin will be looking to extend his 14-bout knockout streak when he makes the 9th-defense of his world titles.

This past January 19, in front of a full house of New York City fight fans, Golovkin dominated top rated challenger Gabriel Rosado, stopping him in the seventh round at Madison Square
