

"I just want to see these young guys fight. I want to see talent meet talent in the ring before they get old. Don't care about their speech, their music, their cloths, their idols, or their marital status, or their social alliances..... just want to see em' fight. And Broner's going to be a very interesting one to watch, despite his obvious flaws. He'll get his act together, because he's wired to perform." ---TSS all-star reader Brown Sugar doesn't care about TMZ antics, he just cares about fighters fight