"That's the way to go. Emanuel did what he loved, until the day he died. No vacation, no long hospice... just a very productive life up until the last. That's the way I want to go. Never retire. Just live until I can't function in the mortal plane. What more could you ask?

Have a beautiful and blessed journey, Emanuel. I never knew you but I feel like you were a friend. You will be sorely missed." --Brown Sugar sums up the loss of Emanuel Steward
