

"Let's respect Rios and Alvarado for taking the hardest fight possible and showing their warrior hearts and skills.

Assuming Adrien Broner could and/or would be able to withstand either of these men's attacks is pure conjecture. He is not impossible to hit and the fact that he has beaten Antonio Demarco says nothing about how he would fair against the likes of Rios or Alvarado. Broner will have his time but I don't think he beats either man." --TSS all-time all-star Fe'Roz isn't sold on Broner as The Next Big Thing
