

"Floyd has buzzing power and that's really all you need. Yes, knockout power is great and it always is a benefit but what happens sometimes is that fighters strictly rely on their power and forget how to set up their opponents. You need to have your opponent respect your punching power, and have enough to keep them off you. Floyd fought a great fight but the fans were ripped off. If you truly appreciate the sweet science it was fun to watch, however Floyd could have thrown more punches." --Reader Carmine Cas respects Floyd but would've liked him busier
